

Good afternoon to one and all

I'm Someswar and I'm very happy that I have been given a chance to introduce me and presentation today

Guys, Today I want to share past experience that was happened in my diploma journey that too story format

We are a friends of 3 members namely madhu, dhanesh and me

Actually, We all are new to eachother when entered into diploma.

As everyone knows that,

What's the first thing that

We will when we came to new place

Either search for best friends or else Colour's in that place. Right.

While searching for friends

Luckily or will of God

We don't know

What's exactly is

We met. Understood eachother. We teamed together as 3 like bench of friends is always memorable.

Our bond getting stronger than day by day as far at some stage

If anyone of us don't want to come to college remaining 2 members also off to the college.

Our academics and unity is always represents good bond people around us.

One day we are going to lab to correct the records

And I got 9/10 marks and the person dhanesh got 8/10.

then he said to teacher " mam we are worked same like, remove that 1 mark " to justify and teacher asked me that 'is it ok for you'

I said Ok Mam

The thing that makes me upset is not that 1 mark

His attitude towards others to accept better than him.

Ok i forgot it.

While we are closing to the persons we want to be with us

We may identifies his/her strength, weaknesses and his attitude etc...,

At 3rd year of my diploma

The persons madhu and dhanesh is getting closer apart from me

I don't know how it's happening and going

Actually madhu is much more closer with me rather than dhanesh.

In daily routines also I feel like I'm getting ignored

I believe in faith

Then I guessed and realised that

Ok my journey will not be there with these people.

But not yet concluded

We're completed our diploma

We were Wrote ECET exam and got result that

They two got swarnandra and I got our college.

One side of my heart change to swarnandra in 2nd counselling and another side you are not meant for them so that

Opt this college.

And finally I'm here.

We are still best friends but not Meet daily that's it

MORAL:

If God want shakes your nest

Believe that

He's preparing you fly

And also destination is not same for everyone
